

KEEP GEESE AWAY FROM YOUR PROPERTY

Geese may be beautiful, but the mess they leave behind isn't. Just 50 Canada geese can produce two and a half tons of excrement in one year. Aside from the embarrassing smell and unsightliness, large deposits of bird droppings can also pose some genuine health concerns:

- More than 60 bird-borne parasites and diseases, including E. coli, West Nile Virus and histoplasmosis, can be transmitted through bird droppings
- Fresh droppings represent a serious slip-and-fall risk
- Geese can become aggressive and cause injury when defending their territory or their offspring

Flocks of geese can also cause extensive damage to your turf and property as they nest, forage and roost. Migratory geese tend to visit the same locations year after year, so it's important not to let them add your property to their list of rest stops.

Luckily, there are humane, environmentally responsible ways to deter geese from settling on your property. Order our affordable, effective geese repellent program today and put an end to your goose problem.
